The Tour

This is an opportunity for fathers, grandfathers, mothers and grandmothers to play the famous St. Andrews links together with their children, grandchildren, boys and girls, and learn the history of the Royal Ancient Game of golf as it grew to dominate a town whose history reaches back to the Bronze age and Roman legionaries. Known as the ecclesiastical heart of the Roman Church in Scotland, it was ruled by Bishops and visited for centuries by Kings and Queens. Along with golfing the great links, participants will visit St. Andrews historical sites including the ruins of the 12 century Cathedral, where the great champions of golf, Auld Tom Morris and son Tom Jr., winner of five Open Championships lie among the great Bishops. St. Rules Tower within the Cathedral grounds, is said to have guarded the relics of St. Andrews the patron saint of Scotland, and the nearby Castle, a fortification reaching out of the sea, existed as far back as 700BC. The British Golf Museum, founded in 1990, which contains a huge collection of documents and the implements related to the history of golf and the foundation of St. Andrews as the birthplace of golf dating back to the 1400s. Falkland Palace summer home of Mary Queen of Scots and a grand tour of Edinburgh, Scotland Capital city are other highlights of an historic golf tour.

St Andrews Links

The town of St. Andrews, Fife, is regarded as the "home of golf." It has one of the oldest courses in the world, where the game has been played since the 15th century. Today there are seven golf courses; the Balgove, Strathtyrum, Eden, Jubilee and New, plus the Old Course, which is widely considered one of the finest, and certainly one of the best known courses in the world. The seventh course Castle Course, sited on the cliffs a mile to the east of St Andrews and designed by the architect David McLay Kidd, opened in June 2008. The courses of St Andrews Links are owned by the local authorities and operated by St Andrews Links Trust, a charitable organization. St Andrews is also home to the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, one of the most prestigious golf clubs and until 2004 one of the two rule making authorities of golf (in that year, the Royal and Ancient Club passed on its rulemaking authority to an offshoot organization, The R&A).
